- Is an effective treatment of external anal fissures and haemorrhoids
- Supports the natural healing process and prevents infection of tissue damages related to childbirth (tears, incisions, overstretched tissue)
- Treats irritations such as caused by: friction (clothes, sports etc), sanitary napkins, allergic reactions, sexual intercourse and washing with soap
- Ideal for use during pregnancy and after childbirth

Application:

Multi-Gyn Compresses have been developed to offer maximum relief of discomforts in the external intimate area such as the labia, vulva (vaginal opening) and the anus. Each compress has been impregnated with a bio-active gel. This natural gel is based on the patented zQR-complex that blocks the development of bacteria and prevents infection.

The outside of the pad is coated with a thin layer of plastic. This creates optimal conditions for the natural healing process. Also the underwear is not stained by the gel. A Compress is placed on the intimate area (vaginal and anal) where it forms a soft protective pad.

Multi-Gyn Compresses are ideal in the prevention and treatment of minor tissue problems such as irritations, rashes, overstretched tissue, minor damages, fissures and haemorrhoids. This product is highly effective, safe and natural. Therefore is it especially suitable to offer relief of discomforts during pregnancy and after childbirth. Multi-Gyn Compresses are a medical device class I with European Registration.

Directions for use:

Use Multi-Gyn Compresses as often as you please, each time you experience or wish to prevent discomforts in the external vaginal and anal area such as itch, sensitivity, irritation and swelling. Multi-Gyn Compresses are ideal to prevent infection and support the natural healing process of minor tissue damages.

Open the sachet, fold the compress open and place with the impregnated side on the affected area. Leave the compress in place as long as desired but for at least 10 minutes. To ensure the Compress stays in place it is advised to use tight fitting underwear. Repeat treatment at minimum twice per day until problems are relieved.

Discomforts in the external intimate area (vaginal and anal) are more common than you may think.

Many women will recognize problems such as: itch, irritation, sensitivity and swelling. Especially during pregnancy and after childbirth this is very common. In this period there is much more pressure on the intimate area than normal. The pressure often results in small cracks in the tissue (fissures) or veins that swell up (haemorrhoids). This can be very uncomfortable. Did you know that 2 out of 3 women experience such discomforts during pregnancy and after giving birth? On top of that, most of these women will keep on having these problems every once in a while. Multi-Gyn Compresses are the effective and natural solution to all such discomforts.

How Multi-Gyn Compresses work.

The bio-active gel is based on the patented zQR-complex. This natural substance is derived from medicinal plants and consists polysaccharides. It has the unique ability to block adhesion of harmful bacteria and in this way it neutralizes these bacteria effectively. This natural blocking effect is completely safe and harmless because it is not based on toxic substances or harsh chemicals and therefore it does not have negative side-effects.

On top of its key effect of blocking harmful microbes, Multi-Gyn Compresses supports the natural repair system of the tissues and optimizes the condition of the mucosa. This effect is created by the special laminated and non-absorbant compress that creates the ideal conditions for the natural healing process.
